We aim to offer you unique pieces, that aren't mass produced, so whilst we try to be honest and accurate with our lead times, our made to order pieces can sometimes take longer than expected. Our suppliers experience unusually busy periods, as do their suppliers of raw materials, other external factors can all contribute to your piece taking longer than anticipated. We have never failed to fulfil an order, and once we have received your piece we always aim to deliver to you as soon as possible.
